“ Dear Cree Pea,
there are no words to describe the pain that we all feel without you, now and the months and years to come. I will never forget you baby girl. without you, the world is just a little bit less bright. i felt like no matter what mood i was in, you could always make it better, and we could always have something new to talk about. You were always so happy, and strong and bright, even in the darkest of times. and we all know you had some pretty dark times hun. it seemed like no matter how many times life knocked you down, you always jumped right back up. This is a bittersweet time, because we will all miss you so so much. But i am glad the pain and sufferng is over for you, i wish i couldve fixed you Cree pea, but there was just nothing anyone could do. you fought long and hard honey, and now its time to be able to relax and not worry about anything, Youll be the first person i want to see when its my time to come up to those pearly gates, and im sure we'll make some more irreplaceable memories. I will never forget you Cree Pea.
