“ For my 18th Birthday Jayden stayed home from school until lunch and surprised me with a huge tray of french toast sticks that she spent all morning frying herself, because she knew how much I liked them. And she forgot the syrup because she's goofy like that. Or that time we ding-dong ditched people around paoli. We got Mrs. worden and saw her shadow walking to the door, Jayden dropped her beanie running back to the car and I yelled "leave it!" she did not leave it...

Or that time I picked you up and it clearly smelled like fart in my car, and we just laughed, and she didn't call me out.

When we got in a car accident a week after I got my first car, and I told her to punch me in the face or break my arm so my parents wouldn't be pissed. She refused. We both went in my parent's room and just bawled.

When there was a mandatory school photo at the football field, and we ditched. Ended up walking in front of the entire school in the stands. Later got griped at from Mr. Morris. lol.

She was the very best friend that I never deserved. She stood up for people when I was mean, she made me a better person. I've never had a friend I was so comfortable with. I miss you so much. I miss chasing cows in the pasture, sitting on that brick hut in your yard looking at the stars. I miss playing that pirate of the Caribbean game you had. Watching cry baby in your papa's room. I miss being able to just look at each other and laugh when someone did or said something stupid. I've never had a friend I was so comfortable with. I wish I was there for you after graduation. I'm so sorry. I love you so much and I always have. I'll keep you in my dreams Jayden.

“ Jayden was one of those people that brought a smile to your face when they were a thought in your head. There was always such a togetherness to be felt around her; a true light. Gone way too soon, you will be missed for many years to come, sweet girl❤️

“ Jayden was such a sweet person though she always seemed a little lost. Hope she has finally found peace and that there are plenty of animals in heaven for her to care for. She will be missed more than she would have realized.
