“ I have too many fond memories of LaVerne to list them. I still have a picture of LaVerne, Joanna Gibbons Rondeau and I sitting on the living room couch at my house and I won't mention here what I fondly remember our discussing at the age of 13. I also have fond memories of my being at her house or she being at my house but Daddy A. J. taught 6 of us girls to dance in their living room. As I mentioned in Johnny Lynn's obituary today (and I am so sorry this one is 6 years late but just had to do it better late than never.) Jphnny Lynn would go to the farm with Grandad Harris to keep from having to be a partner to one of the girls. I also remember Rodney was born on the same date and time as somebody in my family in the hospital at Dumas, Texas. I was there but senior moments come up more often at 85 years than then. Johnny Lynn was just 5 years younger than the girls. May God bless you all is my prayer from Stillwater, Oklahoma where I knew wasn't that far from LaVerne but I just never managed to get in contact. “ Laverne was my older, and much wiser cousin. She was a sweet and kind gal. As a kid, she was my protector from mostly older and ornery cousins. I dearly loved her. She got all the great traits of her parents, A.J. & Edna. My Aunt Edna was truly the sweetest, kindest and most loving person in this world. My Uncle A.J. was the most gifted and dedicated farmer anywhere. Laverne was blessed to receive all these traits. I both love and miss her greatly. I await our reunion in our Father's world. Love ya, Vern!
