“ My first interactions with a real black cowboy at Oklahoma State University and anywhere as far as that is concerned was with OC. OC was a friend and a person that taught me many things even though he was 5 years younger than me...I had his back like he had mine many times...although we only have cross paths on Facebook through the years after OSU, he always is and will be in my fond memories. Condolences to the Harper family, OC will be missed by all, Terry Martin (OSU Class of 1987).

“ Justin and I were saddened to hear of the passing of OC. Justin worked with him in the oilfield several years ago and mentioned how hard of a worker OC was and an amazing welder. Although we no longer live in that area, anytime we were in Pauls Valley and saw OC, he greeted us with a smile and kind words. He was one of a kind. Prayers of comfort for his family.

Our prayers and love to the family. O.C. was a man of pure gold God has called a true King home. Family we leave with you these words. God does not make us his people immune to the human changes in life but gives us Grace to see things through to satisfactory conclusion. Through it all God stays the same and control human events in such a way that those who trust him will find the courage to ensure Amen.

Love to you all from: Money, Sherryl, Laine, James Peters and my 2 grandsons Caden and J. P. the love Of.C. from the first moment they met him.

“ O.C. was so much fun to be around, especially when we were younger. He would tell me, "Girl, stop flashing your bright lights at the car ahead of us. I guess you blind 'em first, then go around." Spoken in the truest form of "Oklahoma Twang," that only O.C. could deliver. Then we'd all crack up laughing ourselves into tears.”

“ Hate to hear this O.C was a great guy. Many years ago he always gave me a hard time about John Deere tractors. So anytime we were in the same place and Big Green Tractor would come on he would come find me and say lets go show these people how to dance to this song. Havent seen him in a few years. He will be missed by many. Thoughts and prayers are with his family.
