“ All mothers share one heart; the passing of any child creates a chasm of unbearable aching. This union of love and loss binds us each to the other, that we may remain strong enough to continue along God's path, caring for every remaining one of God's children as if they were of our own flesh. And to those whom He created as special, He also provided families whose strength and perseverance weave a beautiful ribbon of love and sharing to bind them together as they pass their time among men.

My thoughts and prayers are with Rob's mother, sister, brothers, and all those who will miss his presence on this earth. May they find warmth and solace wrapped in that beautiful ribbon, so exquisitely woven with weft of memories past and warp of joyous anticipation for a reunion in the Father's house. And may they keep Rob's memory alive as they pass on to others the lessons they learned as students to this teacher of love, humor, patience, and grace.

God grant you comfort, hope, peace, and understanding in this time of sorrow. And please know that you do not need to face these travails alone. You are surrounded by those who care...##imported-begin##Mom Hughes##imported-end##

“ Dear Gordon family,
I had the priviledge to be one of Rob's teachers for his last few years of high school. I was just a year older than him and I so enjoyed getting to know him. He had such a great sense of humor and was a joy to be with. I learned so much from him, that still affects the way I approach being in the classroom with my students today in Ardmore. It was an honor to get to be one of the people he touched. I am so sorry to read about his passing.
