“ We are offering our condolences and words of encouragement to the Allen and Turner families. Life is like a mist appearing only for a day and tomorrow's disappearance. Earth has no sorrow that heaven cannot fix. May your memories of the brighter and happier days of her life replace the memories of the final days of pain and suffering. The heart remembers most what it has loved the fondest. As Earth Wind and Fire used to sing in a song You don't miss what you never had. Be thankful that you had her to miss.

No matter how hard that we live to be it makes it no easier to lose your mother. No matter how many words of comfort and heart felt sadness from others in the end the family bears most of the pain. Our prayers and thoughts are with each of you. May God rest his blessings on each of you.
