The life, the love, the smiles that someone brings to you is what is the most important thing this earth can ever give you. No matter the reason, a fight, the argument or the laughter. Never leave someone without those 3 words "I Love You".

Travis was a man who never understood people that are judgemental. He believed that everyone was capable of mistakes, being who they are and being forgiven by not only God but fellow man for those mistakes. He will be dearly missed.

“ *Perhaps they are not stars but rather;
Openings in Heaven's floor ... To allow the light of our loved ones to shine down upon us.
To let us know they are watching over us and always with us. Look to the nights sky, that bright twinkling star is Travis waving to you from Heaven.*

We are so sorry, our deepest heartfelt prayers of sympathy, comfort and peace are with everyone who loved Travis.

“ My condolences to his husband Joe and all of his family and friends. Travis brought smiles to so many everyday, in person and through social media. The heavens are much brighter and this earth a little darker with his passing. May he inspire many to carry on his beliefs and the wondrous outlook he had on life. <3
